BOYS' CONTEST.

Corn Growing Club of Fifty Youngsters.

Call for Meeting of Lawrence County Boys at the Court House in Louisa on March 1st.

Fifty Lawrence county boys are hereby called to meet at the court house in Louisa on Wednesday, March 1st, to hear details of a "Boys' Corn Growing Contest" which will be inaugurated for this season. The contest will be open to boys from twelve to fifteen years of age, inclusive.

It will also pay the "old boys" to come in and hear what will be said on this occasion. Most of you will be able to learn something of value.

This movement is under the direction of Mr. W. T. Kane, of the State Agricultural Department, who will be present at the meeting to tell what is being done elsewhere in this line.

The State will furnish seed corn to fifty boys who will enter this contest. The prizes to be given the winners will be announced later.

Both the State of Kentucky and the U. S. Agricultural Department have published bulletins that tell how to get the best results in growing corn. These may be had for the asking. Write to the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, Lexington, Ky., asking for bulletin No. 145.

What One Boy Has Done.

In this connection we know of no better way to awaken interest than to tell of what was done last year by a boy in one of Kentucky's roughest counties. Truesdell Wilson won in a contest in Pulaski county with a production of 124 bushels of corn on one acre. In this issue we are printing a picture showing this boy in his corn field.

He plowed the ground the last of January and cultivated seven additional times before planting, and five times afterward. The total cost of the cultivation and harvesting and of the fertilizer used was $27.58.

In this county last year a boy grew 100 bushels on an acre at a cost of $27, charging for all the work at regular prices. We will tell you more about this later, or you may learn all particulars by coming here on March 1st. We have some sample ears of the corn in the News office.

Diplomas to be Given.

The Department of Agriculture is arranging to award diplomas to boys between the ages of 10 and 15, inclusive. As many as 50 diplomas will be awarded in each county to boys who raise as much as sixty bushels of corn to the acre. The diplomas will be signed by the Governor, Commissioner of Agriculture, Supt. of Public Instruction, and County School Superintendent. Seed corn will be furnished free.

THE LEGISLATURE WAS FOR IT.

Despite the fact that it was fiercely attacked by some members, the Marcus and gambling bill passed the West Virginia Legislature by a vote of 71 to 5.

Delegate Carr declared that the law was puritanical and savored of the blue laws of long ago. Under it, he declared, it would be illegal to pitch horse shoes for stogies, to spit at a crack for cigars, or for ladies to play bridge whilst or flinch for prizes.—Ceredo Advance.

TO COLORADO FOR HEALTH.

The many friends of Miss Fannie Skeens the trained nurse, will be sorry to learn that she has been compelled to go to Colorado because of poor health. Miss Skeens stopped work some months ago, hoping the needed rest would restore her to normal health, but she grew worse instead of better, and this week she went to Colorado Springs for the waters and pure air of that resort.

Death of Harry Preston.

Harry Preston died December 31, 1910 at the home of his son at McNeal, Boyd county, from diseases attending old age. He had been in rather ill health for some time but was only confined to his room a few days before his death, during which time he sustained a fall from which he never entirely recovered. His family was notified of his illness and were all present except Mrs. W. A. Chapman, who could not attend on account of ill health. His remains were taken to Graves Shoals, Lawrence county, where he had been his home for more than 40 years till about 2 years ago. Here his funeral was conducted by Rev. Arthur Preston after which interment took place in the old family cemetery. He was 80 years old and the father of A. W. Preston, of Dickson, W. Va.; Mrs. W. A. Chapman, of Graves Shoals, Lawrence county and Gus Preston, of McNeal, Boyd county. He left no wife, she having died seven years ago.

The subject of the foregoing brief sketch was one of the best citizens of this county. He was sober, industrious, moral and upright, correct in all the relations of social life. He was a very quiet retiring man, but one who could be relied upon at all times. By his death Lawrence county lost one of its best and most useful men.

Enticing From Labor.

Husband in the Office
Trying to make money,
Wife in the kitchen
Thinking of her "honey"
Maid in the garden
Hanging out clothes, Along comes a neighbor woman who offers her a dollar a week more wages, and then
She packs her duds and goes.

With the laudable object in view of putting a stop to this sort of thing Mr. H. C. Sullivan offered an ordinance at the recent meeting of the Louisa city council making it punishable by fine for any one to attempt to induce a person to leave an employer. Some of the councilmen might possibly have felt twinge of conscience regarding the matter, for Mr. G. S. Wilson's motion to adopt received no second and the whole thing died a bornie.

HEAR THE LYRICS.

Fine Entertainment for Thursday Night of This Week.

The fourth and last but one in the entertainment course provided for us by two public spirited people of our town will be presented Thursday evening at the Masonic. A trio of gifted artists, each of whom is a star, will present a programme of exceptional attractiveness. The aggregation is known as the Boston Lyrics, and in the broad sense of the word lyric is a musical one. The company comes to Louisa with a reputation second to none for real worth and attractiveness. The News could fill a column with the complimentary words of its exchanges regarding the Boston Lyrics. Forming an opinion from these notices this paper can, without hesitation or reserve, urge its readers to secure seats for the Thursday evening performance. There will be piano music of a high order, besides that produced by instruments of unique shape and melodious sound. There will be readings and impersonations worth the hearing, and haritone singing, such as is seldom heard from any but first class operatic talent. The News urged our people to hear The Orpheans, praising them highly. All who heard them were delighted. Go and hear the Lyrics and you will send the performance with the stamp of your approbation.

A DELIGHTFUL EVENING.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Campbell entertained quite informally, but very pleasantly on Friday evening, last. There were two tables for flitch and one for whist, and it would be difficult to decide which more enjoyed. Most delicious fruit salad and coffee were served as a fitting close to a very delightful evening.

K. N. C. PROGRAM.

Prominent Speakers to Address Students Friday Evening.

An interesting program has been arranged for the students of the Kentucky Normal College for Friday night of this week. They will gather at the court house and listen to addresses by prominent men from other places.

Hon. John F. Huger, of Ashland, has kindly consented to address the students. Judge Huger attended school in Louisa in his early manhood and has always felt a special interest in the town.

Also, Hon. S. U. G. Rhodes, of Mingo county, W. Va., will be present and deliver an address.

Hon. John W. Woods, of Ashland, is also on program for a speech.

Superintendents from other counties have been invited and some have signified their intention to attend if possible.

It will be an occasion worth attending and the only regret is that the court house is not large enough to accommodate all the people who would like to attend.

Fiscal Court.

The Lawrence County Fiscal Court held a special term in this city Wednesday. The only business transacted was the consideration of a report of Special Commissioner M. S. Burns in the matter of a final settlement with Sheriff John H. Carter. The report showed that the county taxes had been collected and paid to the proper persons and that Mr. Carter was entitled to give his bond for the year beginning March 1st.

In this connection the News takes pleasure in speaking well of the efficiency of Sheriff Carter and his deputies. They have been prompt in collecting and paying over the various moneys which should be collected, and have been courteous and obliging in their relations with the public generally.

Killed on John's Creek.

George Hunkutt, a citizen of lower John's Creek, and about 60 years of age, was killed last Friday. It is claimed that he was killed by James Burbon Clark, a son of Morgan Clark deceased, and that the motive was robbery. Young Clark who is a minor is heir to about $1700. The deceased had on him about $46 which was missing. The proof against Clark is conclusive. He has not been arrested, having left on the two o'clock train after the murder was committed.—Pikeville Herald.

NO MONEY FOR TEACHERS.

The payment of teachers for the last month's work is long overdue and it is not easy, or possible, to tell when they may expect their hard earned dues. That they do not get their money is no fault of the County Superintendent.

REWARD RENEWED.

A reward has been offered by the Governor, good for 60 days only, for the arrest and conviction of Ben Blakenship, of Lawrence county, charged with murder. The reward is for $200 and is an extension of an old reward.

THE LATE RISE.

The late big Sandy has nearly resumed its normal size. Of the 6000 or more logs turned loose above Pikeville less than a hundred passed Louisa unrafted. The most of the timber belonged to the Yellow Poplar Lumber Company.

We are sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. Ransome Holbrooks. Her daughter was married Friday morning and started to Virginia and the old lady seemed to have collapsed. Mr. Holbrooks was immediately sent for and did all he could to revive her but she never spoke and died Saturday 7 a. m.—Pikeville Herald.

Valentine's Day passed without serious incident in Louisa. There were a few broken hearts, but Time is a great healer.

WINNER IN CORN GROWING CONTEST.

Truesdell Wilson, of Pulaski county, Ky., Age 15, Who Raised 124 Bushels Per Acre.

Bride Well Known Here.

Announcement has just been made of the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Shortridge, a popular and well known young lady of Normal, to Mr. Burton J. Shippe, a well known traveling representative who has been located with headquarters in Huntington for some time. The marriage was performed at Gallipolis on last Thursday and was the culmination of an elopement. Mr. and Mrs. Shippe returned to the bride's home near Catlettsburg, and will remain there for several days before going to Huntington, where they will probably reside permanently.—Ashland Independent.

Freak Ear of Corn.

The only ear of corn ever known to contain an odd number of rows of grain has been found by the Department of Agriculture and is on exhibition at the corn show being held at Terre Haute, Indiana.

According to C. P. Hartley, the corn expert of the bureau of plant industry, the history of agriculture does not reveal another specimen of a perfect ear of corn with an odd number of rows. This ear was grown in Illinois in 1903.

SEVERELY INJURED.

Young Man's Leg Broken in Three Places at Gallip.

"Dud" Gifferson, a well known young man of this county, was seriously injured at the saw mill of his father, Sine Gifferson, on Contrary Creek, Tuesday morning, last. The young man was endeavoring to throw a heavy belt from apulley while the engine was running, when by some means his right leg became entangled in the belt, resulting in serious and painful injury. The thigh was broken, the leg was broken between the knee and the ankle, and the ankle itself was crushed, making what is called surgically a comminuted fracture. Mr. Gifferson was at once carried to his home, not far from the mill, and Dr. T. D. Burgess, of this place, was sent for. By him the various fractures were reduced and the young man was made as comfortable as possible. Mr. Gifferson is a very worthy and popular gentleman, and his misfortune elicits much sympathy from his many friends. The place where the accident occurred is not far from Gallip station on the C. and O. railway.

A PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

The Rev. S. F. Reynolds fell from a ladder in his front yard last Saturday and broke his right arm between the hand and elbow. Drs. Bromley and Reynolds adjusted the fracture and the injured man is doing as well as possible. Mr. Reynolds is about 73 years of age, and on this account the bone will be slow in mending.

MARRIED AT BUCHANAN.

On Tuesday, Feb. 7, Miss Anna Bellomy, of Adeline, and Mr. Wade Vanborn, of Zeida, went to Buchanan and were married.

KENTUCKY NORTH & SOUTH.

More Talk About Another East Kentucky Railroad.

Another K. N. and S. Railroad report is spreading over the country and is so persistent and unchangeable that we publish it believing that it has foundation in fact. This paper is careful not to publish unauthenticated reports but this one has come to us a dozen times, always in the same form, and is worth the reading of the public.

The report has it that the company has been able to float the major part of its bonds successfully, and that Mr. Homer accompanied by the engineer will be here about the 15th or 20th to prepare for immediate work. This is the reason the company recently purchased the tract of land in South Portsmouth—they wanted to have their terminals there and bought the land only so the price would be lower. The company has decided to take the Deer Creek route and, the report says, will begin work very shortly on the different sections of the road.

A reporter for this paper interviewed the person to whom the letter was supposed to have been sent, he stated emphatically that he promised the railroad men months ago that whatever was written him by them would be in the strictest confidence, and propose to keep that promise.

The report, however, bears out the belief of our best business men, who have believed since last fall and especially since the Fullerton tract was bought that work would begin in the spring.—Grayson Bugle-Herald.

More Light.

Darkest Louisa is to be illumined. Nine more street lamps will be immediately put in. There will be one near Councilman Hill's residence, one near Gum Berry's, one near John Stump's one at the lower corner of the A. J. Garred lot, opposite the Justice corner, one near Mrs. Gayheart's and two in what is known as Tin Can alley.

HOLCOMB REVIVAL.

Closing Thursday Night After Successful Record.

The series of evangelistic meetings which began in this city on Sunday, Feb. 5, under the auspices of the Baptist church closed Thursday night. The evangelist in charge of the meetings was the Rev. H. R. Holcomb, of McCombe City, Miss., a man well fitted for his responsible vocation. He is an honest, sincere, earnest preacher of the Word, and the News is glad to be able to publish the fact that his eloquent sermons and forcible appeals have been crowned with abundant success. At this time this paper is not able to give in figures the results of the grand work done by Mr. Holcomb during the past twelve days. The meetings were held in the Court House, day and night, and at times the big room was filled to its utmost capacity. Conversations and additions to the church were many and reclamations were numerous. Two beneficial results of this fine meeting will extend to other towns and counties, as many of those who professed conversion live elsewhere and will join their home churches.

MARRIED IN VANCEBURG.

Mrs. Mattie Burton, widow of "Uncle" Sammy Burton, formerly of this county, went to Vanceburg, Ky., Tuesday, February 14, and was married to Mr. John R. Evans, of that place. The bride is 72 years old and is a worthy, highly respected woman.

HAS BEEN PAROLED.

Lee Vanhorn, of this county, sent to the penitentiary five years ago for manslaughter, has been paroled. His sentence was for 20 years.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM MANY STATES

Important News Gathered from Abroad for the Benefit of Our Readers.

The 1912 General Methodist Conference will be held in Minneapolis.

It is said 100 indictments will be returned at Portsmouth, O., for the selling of votes in Scioto county.

Arbor Day in this State has been changed from spring to fall, and this year it will fall on October 27.

The House passed a bill making the membership of the body 433 after March 3, 1913. The Democrats and the insurgents combined and defeated the machine organization.

Six indictments charging bribery were returned by the Hamilton county, Ohio, grand jury at Cincinnati, against Jacob Baschag, deputy tax collector and prominent local politician. The bills followed an inquiry into alleged fraudulent practices by which certain breweries are said to have obtained refunds of liquor taxes.

In refusing the application of several bartenders and saloonkeepers in Tennessee for naturalization papers Judge McCall declared that any man engaged in the liquor business in the State could not be true to his oath to respect the Constitution and therefore all men so engaged will not be eligible to citizenship in the United States.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Feb. 11.—Mrs. Julia Davis Turley, died at the residence of her son, Sam Turley, this evening of general debility. She was the daughter of Garrett Davis, who served in Congress for several terms, and was nearly 90 years old. She was born in this county, where she spent all her life, and was a woman of remarkable intellect, which she retained until death.

Jackson, Ky., February 9.—Jim (Stick) Spicer, wanted for years in Breathitt county for assisting in the murder of Ned Cassidy and wife, in a boat in Kentucky River, near this city, arrived here tonight "in the baggage coach ahead." "Stick" died in Cincinnati two days ago. His body was met by friends on relatives tonight and will be buried tomorrow.

Stanford, Ky., Feb. 10.—A lunacy inquest to determine the state of mind of Mrs. Amanda Harrison, who attempted to exhume the body of the late George B. Sanfley, believing, as she did, that the Lord would raise him from the dead, will be held early next week. Mrs. Harrison is still in jail here serving out a $75 fine assessed against her by a jury for desecrating a grave.

During her confinement Mrs. Harrison has held a number of prayer meetings for her fellow prisoners, leading in the prayer, singing and exhorting. During the services today all of the prisoners attended.

her meeting on the first floor of the jail except Bill Mershon, an 18-year-old boy who is charged with car-breaking and numerous other crimes.

Mrs. Harrison left her large pocket-book on her bed in her cell upstairs and when she returned a $10 bill was missing. "Uncle Dink" Farmer, the jailer, "sweated" the prisoners and finally learned that Mershon had "swiped" the bill. He had to turn Mershon across his lap and give him a good taste of the strap before the incorrigible youngster would confess that he had hidden the greenback in the end of an old water pipe.

In holding W. V. Cole, a Christian Scientist healer, for trial for practicing medicine without a license, Magistrate French of New York, said: "The Christian Scientist has the right to believe he can heal by prayer, but I am of the opinion that if he carries that belief into practice for hire, then he exceeds his rights as an individual under the law and comes directly within the prohibition contained in the Constitution of New York."

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 11. Hugh Snyder, of Paducah; James Ray Moorhead, of Lebanon; and Fred Carney Barnett, of Jonesboro, Ark., three students of Transylvania University, were suspended for the remainder of this school term by the faculty of the university today. For several days an unusual odor had pervaded the classrooms, halls and the adjacent dormitory and the faculty states it was learned that the three students, and, as a practical joke, sprinkled valerianate of ammonia liberally about the premises.

Campton, Ky., Feb. 11.—John and Luther Clair, who, last Sunday at Lee City, this county, shot and seriously wounded their brother, William Clair, a Deputy Sheriff, who was attempting to arrest them on the charge of cutting and wounding Kelly Arnett, were given an examining trial before R. G. Rose, a Justice of the Peace. Luther was held under a bond of $1,000, and his brother John in a bond of $500 for their appearance at the May term of the Circuit Court. It is reported that there is no chance for William Clair to recover.

President Taft Saturday sounded the retreat from the schedules of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law. The very existence of the policy of protection, the President said, is menaced by those who persist in opposing reductions in that law which are based upon the condition of high prices and a gradually lessening in the food supply. The President delivered his warning to the Republican party in his address to the joint assembly of the Illinois Legislature upon reciprocity with Canada.

ada. His declaration that now is the time to make a reciprocal trade arrangement with Canada came after the news was flashed from Washington that the House Committee on Ways and Means had reported favorably on the proposed agreement with Canada, only with the aid of Democratic members.

Carlisle, Ky., Feb. 9.—It is rumored here that the "wets," who have been circulating petitions asking that a local option election be held here, have completed their petitions and will probably file them this week. In which event the matter of calling an election will come up Monday, February 13, which is regular County Court day. This county and county are now dry and the "wets" are seeking a vote on the question as to whether local option shall continue. Both sides are lining up for a warm contest.

The greatest book in the English language was first published in authorized form three hundred years ago. The anniversary will be celebrated in England, beginning March 26, and in the United States beginning April 23rd. In the rest of the world, where the English language is used, it will be observed at other convenient dates.

The book is the King James Version of the Bible. Of course, in whatever translation it appears or in the original tongue, it is the one great writing of the Christian world. But the version which received the approval of James I. when it appeared in 1611 is unique among books.

In 1810 Horatio Thompson came to Kentucky from Virginia, bringing with him a peafowl, then some twelve or fifteen years old. The bird still lives, and is said to be as active as ever. For seventy-five years this peafowl roosted on the same limb of a large oak until the tree happened to be cut down. Then it chose another, roosting for 110 years only on the limbs of trees. When Mr. Thompson died the bird became the property of Thomas Lambert, a farmer of Sulphur Well, Metcalfe county, the present owner. There is a school in the same county, named Peafowl, in honor of this bird, believed by many now to be the oldest in the world.

MORE CONGRESSMEN.

Increase of Forty-Three Under the New Apportionment.

Washington, February 9.—The Republican leaders of the House met a signal defeat today in their efforts to keep representation in the body down to 391 members under the new census. Notwithstanding the action of their caucus last week, at which they agreed to support a substitute for the Crumpacker bill, limiting the House to its present size, their plans were overturned, and in consequence the Lower House of the Sixty-third Congress will have 433 members.

The result was accomplished through a combination of the Democratic minority and a contingent of bolting Republicans under the leadership of Representative John W. Langley, of Kentucky. In fact, the credit for the increased membership is largely due to the work of the Kentucky member, who organized the Republican opposition to the plan of the leaders.

The Democrats, almost to man, stood behind Champ Clark, who fought for increased membership to the end that Missouri might not lose representation in the House. Mr. Langley was able to deliver enough votes from the Republican side to carry through the combine with only slight amendment.

Under the new apportionment no state will lose in representation. Ohio will be one of those which will gain one member.

Under the new apportionment representation will be based upon one representative to each 211,877 inhabitants, or major fraction thereof.

Indiana and Kentucky will retain their present membership of 13 and 11, respectively, and West Virginia, will have six instead of five members, as at present.

The Democrats lost but one decision during the whole fight. A committee amendment in the bill providing that state should not be restricted by the Legislature was voted down on an appeal from the Republican members of the Missouri delegation. They declared the states should be permitted to restrict themselves in their own Legislature.

These long winter evenings may be pleasantly and profitably shortened by reading some of the many new books at Conley's store.

U. S. SENATOR WATSON.

From an Humble Start He Built Great Business.

Charleston, W. Va.,—There have been few men in the history of this country who started a public career under the same circumstances as United States Senator Clarence Wayland Watson, who, last Thursday, qualified to fill the vacancy created in the United States Senate by the death of Senator Stephen B. Elkins.

It was the first public office ever sought by Senator Watson, and the victory he achieved was all the more remarkable when it is considered that it was won over such well-known National Committee men John T. McGraw, Lewis Tamm, John H. Holt and Andrew Edmiston, men who have been leaders in the Democratic party for a score of years.

Despite the repeated charge that the interests were behind the candidacy of Watson, a charge which has been disputed from the beginning by those who were intimate with his campaign, it is known that some of the biggest interests in the state were opposed to the candidacy of Watson, and lent their aid to other candidates. It is openly asserted by some that among those who bolted the caucus nominees were a Standard Oil Attorney and an attorney for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

If it was true that these interests were opposed to Watson his victory coming at a time when he was comparatively unknown to the rank and file of the Democracy outside of his own district, is the more remarkable. Watson's friend, with due regard for their zeal, contend that the new Senator was too big for the special interests, and they say that he will prove his independence in the Senate.

It is noteworthy that when the new Senator qualified he stated that he was going to represent the people of the state. Two years hence he will be a candidate for the long term to succeed himself, and he realizes that the future of his party will be determined largely by his course in the United States Senate. After March 4 next he will share the responsibilities of party leadership with the successor of Senator Nathan Bay Scott—Senator-elect William E. Chilton, and four Democratic Congressmen.

Senator Watson entered the Senate Thursday with but little knowledge of statecraft. His life from boyhood has been devoted to business. The coal industry he knows thoroughly. From a humble beginning he has built one of the largest coal producing companies in America. In managing the business of the big concern which he organized he also has become familiar with the transportation problem, and there are probably few Senators who have a more practical knowledge of this subject than the new Senator from West Virginia. During his busy career he has kept himself well informed on public questions, and during his canvass for the senatorship he was compelled to give at many times his views on current Governmental problems.

During the next two years Senator Watson will have to devote much time to the reorganization of the party if he would succeed himself at the expiration of his present term. The victory of last fall was won without the aid of a state organization, but in the Presidential election in 1912 there will be new conditions.

In order that he may devote his whole time to his new public duties much of the work in connection with his management of his coal producing interests which has fallen on Senator Watson in the past, now will have to be shared by his associates. It is expected that the new Senator will choose at once as a Secretary some Democrat who has had experience in the affairs of his party and who has a thorough knowledge of the conditions that exist in the Panhandle State.

The charges of bribery prepared against Senator Watson and Senator-elect Chilton will be investigated. This is assured by the attitude of each branch of the Legislature. The friends of the two Senators desire an investigation, so they assert, to remove any stigma that might attach itself to their togas, while the opposition would have the inquiry with the hope of bringing out some evidence that might reflect on Watson and Chilton.

The resolution providing for the inquiry directs the investigation into the Democratic senatorial caucus. In justice to the new Senators it might be stated that neither have been charged personally with the offense of bribery, but the statement purported to have been made by Delegate Lefe Shock, of Braxton county, was to the effect that a friend of the allied candidates had bribed Shock to vote for the allies in the caucus.

If Shock agreed, in consideration of the sum of $2,500, to vote for Chilton and Watson, he did not keep his agreement, for he was a constant supporter of McGraw and Holt in the caucus. He did, however, vote for Chilton and Watson after they were declared the caucus nominees.

Since the bribery charges were first made it is claimed that Shock has said that the money he received was delivered on the night of the caucus, after he had voted against Chilton and Watson, by two men whom he did not recognize. The strangers approached him and demanded the money after he had failed to keep his contract, and was surrendered.

The friends of the two Senators claim they will be vindicated with an investigation. It is asserted by some that the charge was made preliminary to the caucus with a view of influencing the result of the caucus or leaving it postponed.

There is not much tangible evidence for the committee to work upon at present except the examination of Shock and Senator Jake Fisher who are alleged to have written the statement purporting to have been made by Shock. Their names W. G. Bennett, of Weston and John J. Davis, of Harpersburg, the father of Congressman-elect John W. Davis, are likely to be witnesses, together with Sam Stephenson, of Charleston, and J. W. Hambrick, of Clay county.

K. N. C. is progressing fine. There are about 800 bright and intelligent boys and girls attending school at Louisa. This certainly speaks well for President Hylington.

The West Virginia students congregated at the K. N. C. Friday night and enjoyed a most remarkable time. They discussed the constitution of West Virginia and brought out many things worth while in West Virginia examinations. There were present about 25 brilliant, and enthusiastic young teachers of West Virginia.

We solicit the Kentucky students to join us in our next meeting. It will be full of interest and a splendid chance to learn something of West Virginia history and politics.

Now, Kentuckians, come out Friday, and participate in our discussion. What do you say?

We certainly do appreciate the K. N. C. and the Big Sandy News.

Mrs. M. J. Evans made a business trip to Crum Thursday.

There are more people dying for the lack of a kind word, a pat on the back and a little encouragement, than there are from disease.

What a lot of strength there is wasted chopping with dull axes! Spend a few minutes at the grindstone and see how nicely the world will go after that.

Some folks make themselves so lame kicking about things, that they tire themselves all out and never make anything out of life. It doesn't pay.

The boys and girls get enough hard knocks out in the world without your being stern and harsh with them. Let your home be to them a shelter and a refuge from the storms of the world.

The Poultry Yard. If you use wet manure let the water be warm.

A corn-sheller is not an essential. The hens will do their own shellung if you throw out the ears in short, broken pieces.

Do not give eggs to an early broody hen until she is surely broody, as hens, like the weather at this season of the year, are rather changeable.

The sooner people divest themselves of the idea that they must be always dosing chickens with medicine, the sooner will they be able to breed a birdy race of fowls, that are crisp and cholera proof.

See that the nest of the early sitters is air-tight. This can be accomplished by placing a sheet of heavy paper in the bottom. Sprinkle the paper well with coal-oil to discourage lice, and use plenty of straw.

Don't trust the feeding and watering of the chickens entirely to the children. Keep in touch with the feeding and the condition of the houses as well. A child can not be expected to note the first signs of trouble.

Take a few of your best layers out of the main house and keep them in a place by themselves with the best made bird you can get. The eggs from these hens will be your stock for the chicks that are to be. Get up a little higher this year.

Say, the hens will cackle thanks for those small potatoes. Just boil them and mix with meal or bran. If scraps of meat or soup bones are boiled with the potatoes the biddies will like the flavor better, and there will be money in your pocket.

Danger in Poor Corn Seed.

One of the incidental results of the recent State Corn Shows at the University at Morgantown, W. Va., was the discovery that a considerable amount of corn that looks good is really of poor seed quality. The fact should serve as a warning to the corn growers of the State; for the apparent meagerness of the tests made at Morgantown is that much of the corn grown in West Virginia during the last year is in such condition that it will not grow.

The story is as follows: The Corn Show brought the University about a hundred and fifty samples of corn. After the prize-winning samples had been separated from the rest, two lots of forty ears each were taken at random from the remaining exhibits for a germination test, which was made by the class in corn judging under the direction of an expert. The results were surprising.

In making the tests six grains were taken from different parts of each ear and placed in a box of sand till they sprouted or had time to sprout. These tests were made in duplicate in order to secure a thoroughly reliable result. In the first lot of forty ears, the test showed that only seventy-five per cent of the corn was good; twenty-five per cent being worthless for seed. In the second lot of forty ears, better results were obtained, only fifteen per cent failing to grow, eighty-five per cent being good. The general average for the eighty ears was eight per cent perfect. In other words, eight ears out of every ten were worthless for seed.

No farmer can afford to plant corn and have fifteen or twenty or twenty-five per cent fail to grow because of dead seed. Enough of the perfect grains will fail to produce good stalks without planting dead grains that might be used to some good purpose for chicken feed. The lesson is that farmers should test their seed corn before planting. They should be sure that every ear is a good ear in all of its parts. Then they may expect a good stand when they plant, and a good crop if soil and culture and weather conditions are favorable.

Representative John W. Langley, of the Tenth district, will vote against Canadian reciprocity. Representative Edwards, of the Eleventh district, is also declared to be against the President in this proposition. Representative Bennett, of the Ninth, is said to be with his two Republican colleagues. There may be some doubt as to Mr. Bennett's attitude, as the Ninth district member desires executive favor when his term expires, Mar. 4.

Senator Thos. H. Paynter has announced his candidacy for the United States Senate subject to the action of the Democratic primary to be held in May. He is the only mountain man who has held this important place and this section of the State, stand by him enthusiastically.

Fashion has prescribed corset coats for men the coming season. We will not mind it much if they are not made to button up behind. We have a friend or two who tip the beam at 200 pounds who will look just too sweet for anything in a corset coat.

The Rockefeller Institute has announced that the effectiveness of antivenereal serum had been generally accepted by medical authorities throughout the world, and had taken its place with vaccine and diphtheria anti-toxin "as an improved agency for the protection of the public health."

Members of Congress are anxiously waiting to see if they can go home after March 4. The President is said to regard the reciprocity situation with complacency. The McCull bill, which provides for the carrying out of the agreement with Canada may be brought up in the House today.

The last vestige of danger that Kentucky will lose one of its Congressmen has passed away. The decision of the House for a House of 433 members settles the matter finally. The Kentucky legislature, when it meets next fall, may redistrict the State into eleven districts if it wants to, but it will not be obliged to. It will be optional with the legislature as to whether it cares to change the existing boundaries.

Announcement has been made of the consolidation of the Kentucky State Journal and the Frankfort News, the two dailies published at Frankfort. The move means the retirement from the editorial field of former Governor J. C. W. Beckham, who has been editor of the Journal for several years. He will devote his entire time to his law practice. The paper will be issued in the afternoon and known as the News-Journal.

The House has passed President Taft's reciprocity bill, removing the tariff from a number of articles that our people need from Canada. The Democrats and insurgents, Republicans combined and passed the bill. The President will use all his power to push the bill through the Senate, and if it should fail he will call an extra session of Congress. The speeches made by the President on this subject contain some excellent Democratic doctrine. He advocates just what the Democratic party has always contended for on the tariff question.

Permanent headquarters were opened in Cincinnati from which will be directed the work of organizing throughout the country for the nomination of Gov. Judson Harmon, of Ohio, for President on the Democratic ticket in 1912.

Hugh Nichols, chairman of the Democratic State Committee which managed the Governor's recent campaign, in which he was selected by a majority of more than 100,000, will be in charge of the Harmon headquarters there. The financing of the campaign for the nomination of Harmon, it was stated, is being looked after by Cincinnati friends of the Governor.

Due Hello.

A BIT OF ADVICE.

First — Don't Delay. Second — Don't Experiment.

If you suffer from backache; headaches or dizzy spells; if you rest poorly and are languid in the morning; if the kidney secretions are irregular and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. The kidneys are calling for help. Slight symptoms of kidney trouble are but forerunners of more serious complaints. They should be given attention before it is too late.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure kidney trouble. They are recommended by thousands. Can Louisa residents desire more convincing proof than the statement of a Louisa citizen who says that the cure Doan's Kidney Pills effected years ago has proven permanent?

Mrs. C. A. Evans, of Louisa, Ky., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills gave such entire satisfaction in our family that in January 1908, I publicly recommended them. Doan's Kidney Pills were used for a weak and lame back, caused by disordered kidneys and they made a complete and permanent cure. I willingly allow the continued publication of my former testimonial."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

ill for several days, is much better.

Julia, wife of C. S. Thompson, after a long period of suffering, departed this life Wednesday morning, February 8. She was taken to the church at Evergreen and her funeral was preached by Rev. Reld of Louisa, after which the Eagles took charge of her remains and laid them to rest in the cemetery near the home. She was a good woman and will be missed very much by all the people in the community in which she lived.

began on the 5th. Many new conversions, some reclamation, many seekers, the interest great and the church greatly revived.

The wife and babe of Roy Adkins, who have been so seriously sick for some time, is much better, and recovery is near at hand.

Death came to the home of David Shelton Saturday night and claimed as its victim David Worthington, his venerable father-in-law. Death was no surprise as the aged gentleman had been sick for a long time. The last year of his life was spent at the Sedlers' Home, in Dayton, Ohio, having gallantly served his country as a "private" in the 14th Ky. Inf. Vol. He bore his sufferings with fortitude, was cossetous to the end. He had lived a long and useful life, was 82 years of age, served his country and family well. He was a brother of ex-Lieut. Gov. Worthington. He leaves several children, all with families, a large number of relatives and a host of friends to mourn their loss. The funeral rites were performed by Rev. Williams, his last remains were carried to the family graveyard at old Princess, where sleep the peaceful ashes of his devoted wife, who passed into the "great beyond" about five years ago.

Mike O'Brien, a venerable citizen of Cannonsburg, was called to final reward Friday of last week, as was another aged citizen of the same neighborhood on the same day, the name of whom we have failed to secure. At the same moment that Mr. O'Brien died the other gentlemen in the same vicinity passed to his reward.

OLD TESTAMENT TIMES BROOKLYN TABERNACLE BIBLE STUDIES

A DISCOURAGED PROPHET'S FLIGHT

1 Kings 19—February 19
"They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength."—Isaiah 40:31.

Signal a victory of Truth over error, of God over Baal, doubtless greatly encouraged Elijah, the Prophet. It was God's victory and Elijah rejoiced on that account, and because he had, in so large degree, been the Divine agent in the matter. But soon he learned that Queen Jezebel was as implacable a foe as ever. She viewed the matter, not as a combat between the Atankity and Baal, but as between her prophets and Elijah. When she learned that her prophets had been slain, she was enraged and sent word to Elijah that his fate must be the same. So unexpected a turn of affairs Elijah had not anticipated. He had the courage to meet the King and to denounce the eight hundred and fifty priests of Baal, but a mere message from a woman sapped his courage. He fled into the wilderness—there, strangely enough, to pray the Lord to take away the life which he had run away to protect.

Let us not forget, however, the suggestion in the previous study that the course of Elijah was intended to be typical—to foreshadow the experiences of the Church during this Gospel Age. Let us examine this feature a little further and note the type and antitype.

Not only is Jezebel referred to in the Bible as symbolizing a corrupt Church system, inciting false doctrines amongst the Lord's nominal people (Ahab, her husband, as representing the civil power and Elijah typical of the saintly class of the Church), but let us also note that the time of no rain was also typical, as mentioned in the Book of Revelation. Four times in this same period of three and a half years referred to as the period in which the true saints of God were hidden from the eyes of the world in general in a wilderness condition. And during the same period there was a great drought and famine, spiritual, amongst the people. Those three and a half years, in Revelation, are styled three and a half times, and again, twelve hundred and sixty days, and again, forty-two months—Rev. 12:6, 12:13, 13:5.

"The Still Small Voice"
In Revelation, however, these various references to three and a half years are symbolical—each day for a year—and hence signify twelve hundred and sixty years in the antitype. Many believe that those years began to count in A. D. 325, and that they ended in 1738. Those who thus understand the nation recognize the increased interest in the Bible which followed 1733 to signify the time of rain (refreshment and blessing), which for the past century has brought great enlightenment to the whole world. But, however we may apply those three and a half years, symbolical years (twelve hundred and sixty literal years), most evidently they cover the antitypical period represented by Elijah's experiences in the wilderness.

If this be a true application it implies a measure of fear and cowardice for a time on the part of God's saintly people. As Elijah again went into hiding it would imply that the saintly ones became obscure. While they were in this wilderness condition a second time, God directed their course and taught them some important lessons, represented in Elijah's experiences related in this lesson. He was shown a strong wind, tearing the mountains and breaking in pieces the rocks, but this was not the Lord's manifestation of himself, but merely an illusion of power. The next lesson was an earthquake, but neither was this the Lord. Next came a fire, but not in this could Elijah fully discern the Lord. Finally came the still, small voice and wonderful message of grace and Truth. In this Elijah recognized God as he did not recognize him in the other manifestations.

The antitypical Elijah, God's saintly people, are today learning to discriminate between different manifestations of Divine power through different agencies. Windy strife of words, which come even as a hurricane, bringing devastation to the present order of Society, is not the voice of God, but the voice of humanity. The earthquake, representing a great time of social unrest, disturbance, upheaval, is not God's message to Elijah, but, nevertheless, is a manifestation of another power which he has in the world, by which, ultimately, the present order of things will give way before the Kingdom of his dear Son. The fire, representing consumption, destruction, anarchy, is not the Lord, but merely human passions which he will permit. The Elijah class are to understand God through the still, small voice heard by the ears of their hearts—the voice of Truth, the voice of God's Word speaking to his people today most wonderfully, yet unheeded by the antitypical Ahab, Jezebel and others, intended only for the antitypical Elijah class—the Lord's faithful followers.

"I Have Yet Seven Thousand"
Notwithstanding this voice, Elijah felt disconsolate and desired to die, thinking of himself as being alone consecrated to the Lord. But the Lord answered him, "I have left me seven thousand in Israel who have not bowed the knee unto Baal." Similarly today there are two classes in spiritual Israel. One class is in the wilderness condition, separate from the world. Another, large class, is still more or less associated with and bound up in Babylon, although at heart they do not acknowledge any but the true God nor bow the knee to others.

"When ye hear I am come, then can ye arise."
The joy of your heart springing up in your eyes?
Can ye come out to meet me whatever the cost be?
Though ye come on the waves of a storm-cursed sea?

"When I call, can ye turn and in gladness come out
From the home of your childhood, the friends of your heart?
With naught but my promise on which to rely.
Afar from their love—can ye lie down and die?"

"Yes, we'll take up the cross and in faith follow thee
And bear thy reproach, thy disciples to be.
Blest Saviour, for courage to thee we will fly;
Of grace thou hast promised abundant supply."

KEATON.

Mr. and Mrs. Noah Skaggs, of Brigs, were visiting T. C. Rose recently.

Senator Davis Elkins whose term expired Friday, when Senator Watson took the oath of office, announced his candidacy for the senatorship to succeed Mr. Watson in 1913. His announcement was made at the White House while paying a call upon the President. "As the situation now appeals to me."

Mrs. Rebecca Vinson, the mother of Judge John B. Wilkinson, of the Circuit Court and Mr. John Vinson, is reported to be critically ill at her home on Marrowbone Creek, near Kermit. Mrs. Vinson is one of the most highly respected ladies in the county and her condition is alarming to her many relatives and friends.

Prosecuting Attorney Jean F. Smith has announced that in case better legal procedure made it necessary to hold the trial of Elbert Artis, accused of murder, in Wayne county, instead of in Cabell on February 17th, the date set for his trial at the present session of criminal court, he would in all probability accompany the local witnesses and assist in the prosecution of the case.

"Aside from the many interesting phases of the case," said Prosecutor Smith, "Artis is from Cabell county, as well as Mrs. Elizabeth Hull, the brutal murder of whom he is charged with doing. If he is guilty of the crime, I am deeply interested in seeing that proper punishment is inflicted."

With the recent announcement of Lieutenant Sam Davis from evidence he had gathered in investigating the case that Mrs. Hull was probably murdered in Wayne, the announcement of Prosecutor Smith has unusual significance.

At present Artis is passing the day quietly in the Cabell jail awaiting the day of his trial.

Huntington—H. Johnson and son, the extensive tile and timber dealers of Richmond, Ind., who have been operating on Big Tully creek for several years, have purchased another big tract of timbered land on that stream from Starcher Bros., of this city. The new acquisition comprises a boundary of almost 4,000 acres and contains an immense quantity of oak. The land is eight miles above their present plant of Leet, but they have already commenced plans to extend their narrow gauge railroad from Leet to that point and the grading for the same will begin as soon as the civil engineers now going over the route have completed their task, which will be right after the frost of February. This company transfers all their shipments at Gill to the Guyan Valley, and give the latter people quite an amount of business.

When Senator-elect William F. Chilton succeeds Senator Nathan Day Scott in the United States Senate next March he will be accompanied to the National Capital by Henry Fry, of Charleston, who will serve him in the role of secretary and general assistant. At least, the new Senator has tendered the place to Fry and it is very likely that the Knawanna man will accept Fry is a young man who has seen years of service in the political arena and is a protégé of Chilton, trained at his side. He was with Senator-elect Chilton from the beginning of these campaign instituted by Chilton more than a year ago and was in charge of his headquarters at the capital, when the fight narrowed down to a contest before the legislature.

More than one public man in West Virginia has been retired in private life by the sovereignty of the state because he failed to appreciate the necessity of having someone at his side who could keep in touch with the boys back home while he was engaged in his work. At least, Chilton is not going to make that mistake. Secretary Fry not only knows the political game as she is played by standard rules, but he has an intimate knowledge of the whole southern section of the State.

United States Senator C. W. Watson took time by the forelock to make good on one promise he delivered before he was elected. He told his friends that he was going to devote his whole time to making good in the United States Senate, and accordingly he has tendered his resignation as the head of the Consolidated Coal Company, the big business organization of which he has been the President for a number of years. The directors accepted his resignation and placed in his stead J. H. Wheelwright of Baltimore, Md., while his nephew, Geo. T. Watson, was elevated to be a Vice-President.

The resignation of Senator Watson as the President of the concern in which he is heavily interested will allow him to devote his whole attention to his public duties. Three were some who questioned the fitness of Senator Watson for the office to which he was elected by the West Virginia Legislature, but no one has ever attempted to deride his ability as an expert mining man. Instead, his friends insist that as a coal man he has no peer in the country, and in substantiation of their statements they refer to the success which has attended his labor in the coal industry.

Watson's friends were chagrined for several days after he had assumed his new duties in the United States Senate over the failure of the new Senator to be present when the vote was taken on the Ballinger subsidy bill. At the time there seemed to be a general desire among the war correspondents to attribute the passage of the bill to the absence of the West Virginia Senator at a critical moment, but later, when the facts became known and it was found that Senator Jeff Davis, the octopus eater, had also strayed away from the forum before the roll was called, the said friends were eased in mind.

A LETTER FROM MANILA.

Lee Nunley Writes Interestingly About the Philippines.

Manila, P. I., Dec. 27, 1910.
Editor of the News:

As time and pleasure permits me I will try and write a few lines from the far east, hoping it will escape the waste basket and be of some interest to the readers of the News.

The interesting sights of Manila have made me very observing and in describing its beauties and strange phase it becomes necessary to write in detail in order to give one pleasure and a word painting which tells fully the people, the strange customs, the streets, and the religion of the inhabitants of the islands.

Obviously the out side of a city is known by its street, but the inner life of the people are reflected in the living panorama that flows through avenues and alleys. Every oriental city carries in its thoroughfares, show-windows carrying a full line of samples of everything found within, and Manila is no exception to the rule. The capital of the Philippines shows a various picture of things new and old, bright and dull, good and bad, beautiful and ugly, interesting and unbearable.

Side by side at the door of the Blumund church are the flower girls and this deformed cripple beggars across the Escalita go the clowns carabao and the electric cars. Modern commercial affairs are handled in offices that would not be used for stables in any American city. The fifteenth century monastery on San Domingo stands next to the offices of the American governor-general. One may stand at the foot of the bridge and see three centuries go by in a mixed up jumble of things too old to be used, and too new to be useful.

Carretons, (carriages) with bare-legged driver perched in any old place that may help to balance the unequal load; carretels filled with humanity in assortments of from two to fourteen to a load; and drawn by horses whose legs are not always long enough to reach the ground; carretons dirty, whiffly, and uncomfortable hitched to beast that balk and create innocent amusement for all but the impatient passengers, are common sights. Getting in and out of these vehicles is a feat that requires considerable practice, and as a test for strength and skill has much to commend it.

Here are found straight shouldered women with staid fish in the market baskets balanced on their heads; children clad in much comfort, but little else; grown boys sauntering along hand in hand as obvious to the world about them as though they were meandering the streets of paradise, stylish carriage drawn by high-stepper and filled with aristocracy, army generals and other important army folks, soldier boys from America dressed in khaki; Chinos from China and in wind bags, Hindoos from India dressed in nine yards of red calico, mostly wrapped about their heads, Japanese from the North, Russians from the battleship that fought and ran away, Singalese from Ceylon, Turks and Cretes and Arabians and dwellers from every country of Europe and every state in the Union, and besides all those what more shall I say? The Filipino himself from the seventy-seven tribes and dialects the two (poor man) from the bosque (villages), the artisan class, the student, the disguised ladron (thief) whose names I will not mention, the dead beasts and gentlemen and gamblers and friends—all these and more cross the bridge of Spain every day if the spectator could know what each is thinking about he would be both wiser and sadder.

T. W. WOOD & SONS, Seedsmen, - Richmond, Va.

Too much knowledge of human nature is not conducive to optimism pure and undefiled.

Out in Malate is a little winding street lined with lapa shacks on both sides, running off into a banana grove at the end, trimmed by women of neck and ankle, and children bare of about everything. The pig grunt beneath the houses, the roosters fight in the shade of the alpa awning, the Senoritas engage in entomological researches, and tropical dirt, and peace reigns supreme. It is a perfect picture of a provincial town, such as may be found anywhere outside of Manila.

The strong material houses of Spanish construction are not individually beautiful, but a street fenced on both sides with these overhanging second stories, presents a perspective that is strikingly suggestive of medieval. The barrio of San Sebastian is a good example of this, and the view toward the north shows a fine background in the high battlements and getible windows of this big steel church.

The streets of the walled city, (Intramuros) are a class by themselves. Narrow, dark and gloomy, there is an air of mystery and trade about them that suggest a good story if one only knew where to find it. The overhead passageway between the convents, the tight latched windows, the strong walls and the big churches, all combined to force the idea that the city was built for protection; and not for looks.

Most of the native business of the city is transacted in stores, and mercados (markets) which are open to the street as to be practically in the highway. The native markets are picturesque enough to look at, but the odors are not a treat, to say the least. They make no pretensions to rival those of the Chino. Before the days of American domination the market of these people was indescribable bad, but modern regulations and efficient inspectors have changed all this to comparative cleanliness and good order. The Chino tiendas are always repulsive and dirty, but the native women who keep the tiendas usually have more eye to appearances and often makes a creditable showing of her shop and its wares.

The street peddlars are not so numerous as they used to be. Baling hats, ones, carabao horn goods, and sweets are about the extent of the native wares sold on the streets and the Chino has the monopoly of the itinerant dry goods trade. He goes from door to door asking three times what the thing is worth, taking what ever he can get. Some of his Canton thins are good values at half of his asking price, but every American woman who comes to Manila gets chocked in her first encounter with the wily henchmen.

The most truly oriental bit of Manila streets is in Hondo. There are several street so narrow that two persons abreast can touch elbows with the walls on each side. The over-hanging roofs come within of touching gutters, and the only sun that ever shines into this canyon is that of 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when the afternoon rays enter the west end of town.

Needless to say that this construction is in Manila's Chinatown, and the little six-foot passages way is crowded with Chinos who seem to be perfectly at home in the shadows of the over-hanging walls. A Canton street set down in the midst of Manila would afford the same joy to the Chinese heart, and this nameless street furnishes the visitors with all the experiences of a trip to that famous city of sights and smells, with the advantage of being able to get out into the fresh air within thirty seconds if need be.

To any one who is fastidious about his food, a trip to this quarter is an experience. Places in this whole street are devoted to Chino restaurants which are well patronized, and the visit is warranted to relieve hunger whether the food is eaten or not. The stoves are inside the door. Large pots of different mixtures are stewing away, and on the counter by the stove are placed a half dozen pots containing various compositions of different color and consistency. A banana leaf serves as marble slab. On this one man kept busy rolling up a sort of wafers tamale, made by spreading on a tough water eight inches across, a brown sticky mass looking just like axle grease and serving about the same purpose.

The chief next, dips with his fingers a handful of something that looks like dirty sauerkraut and putting with this a leaf of lettuce, doctly rolls the whole up into a wafer. This is done at the rate of one rolling every ten seconds, and as fast as they are finished in bunches of threes, they are placed on a dish and some waiting customer carries the dainties away to a table for personal reference. Other mixtures of unknown qualities and consistencies were served to order, the customer always waiting on himself. Over the whole swaying company bare limbed Chinos and natives wrenched the smoke of culinary incense rising from the steaming alter stove, and the smell "but right here is a good place to stop."

A few Americans can resist the interest found in the little Chino shops on Calle Rosario and the plus stalls in San Fernando. It carries one back to dreams of childhood when he saw hazy visions of little shops all our very own, where we could keep store when we got big and the folks would come and buy things of us. All the goods are in plain sight and tools and bits of wire, hose and dry goods are all within reach. Its lots more fun than to go and sit on a stool while a man, pompous enough to be lerd mayer, approaches and with a big dignified countenance says, (as in the states) "what can I do for you?"

Manila streets make up for their narrowness by their occasional expansion into Plazas that afford breathing places and opportunity to leave carrouata if necessary. These squares are a good thing, they might be copied in America with good results. The new comer always insists that Manila has the crookedest streets of any city in the world, and that no one can find them all. That no native ever does learn all of them or try to do so, is very certain, but once the general outlines are mastered is not difficult to locate any given line.

The weather generally warms all through the year. Different mild diseases affect the new comer. Double itch, which causes a continual itching, is irritating and causes much discomfort. The swelling of the feet on account of wearing leather shoes, also is a common complaint. Prickly heat affects the stranger, while the disease that causes the trouble is dysentery. When the Americans first came to the Philippines, the doctors predicted that no white man could stay in the islands longer than nine months but on account of the necessity of the soldiers being forced to remain on account of the insurrection, the predictions of the doctors were ignored, and for some unknown reason, most of the soldiers kept their health. The length of stay was predicted from time to time, each time a longer period was suggested. Many Americans have ignored all the advice of the Physicians and remain in the Philippines ever since the beginning of the insurrection.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

COLUMN DEDICATED TO TIRED MOTHERS AS THEY JOIN THE HOME CIRCLE.

Bribery of public officers is highly condemned by all honest men. The man who, holding public office, accepts bribe which influences his official conduct is properly denounced, as one contemporary put it, as a traitor to his trust.

There is another bribery, however more dangerous because more subtle, or which the law provides no punishment and for which only the whip of public scorn can afford penalty. This bribery is by one's own pocketbook. Some men who would scold the bribe offered by another will accept without apparent misgiving bribery from themselves.

"It will hurt my business. This is 'he plea made by persons who are asked to take a stand for righteousness. It is a selfish plea, but it is more; it is a criminal plea that public opinion condemns and the criminal law punishes.

The reformer meets the evidences of this subtle form of bribery when he seeks the support of those who place self above principle. "Don't quote me it would hurt my business, is the reply to the newspaper reporter when some question of vital public concern is under discussion.

Conservatism, is often another name for cowardice. Silence is golden sometimes but gold is the most cowardly of things. There is no bribery more poisonous than the bribery of one's own pocketbook. Such bribery corrupts the very fountains of public and private morality.

It is desirable to make a living, but it is necessary to make a life.

AN Ideal Home.

We hear a great deal these times about the ideal happy home, and men are not scarce who expect all the requisites for a happy home to come from one side of the house.

A woman may do her level best to make life and home happy for her husband and children, but if she is treated as a slave, and only given her board and clothing in payment for her services as mother, wife, cook, laundress, nurse girl, chambermaid, and seamstress, is it any wonder that little or no happiness exists in that home? If a mother spoils her son by pampering waiting on him all the years of his childhood and boyhood, and making him think that a man should always be waited on by a woman of his household, is it strange that he expects a wife to do the same, and that, in all likelihood, she either wears out in a few years from such service or else becomes bitter or disheartened. We often told that in every true and ideal marriage both husband and wife must learn to bear to forbear. In every home where happiness exists, there must be perfect trust, confidence and love between husband and wife. There are two kinds of sunshine in the world, and both quite necessary—the one which is caused by the sun's shining out door, and the other by abiding in our hearts. It is the loving deeds, the cheery hopeful words and the kindly thoughtfulness that each member of the family shows towards the others that makes an ideal, happy home—a perfect heaven on earth.

Why Divorce is so Common Today.

This generation sees divorce more frequent, not because men and women are more wicked, but because married life is made more difficult by the excitement and complexity and manifold strains of modern life, unendurable. A broad gap opens between the hot present and the dull quiet of other days, when the husband passed his day in a steady and continuous round of work, when no avenue in life but marriage opened before most women, and both men and women passed lives from which excitement, worry and the anxious rush of this day were absent. Any candid man who will reconstruct the life of sixty and eighty years ago will be convinced that, while that day had in it much of secret wickedness—as court and church records show—it had also conditions much less likely to prevent two people from leading quiet, uneventful and reasonably happy lives together.

Many now occupy back seats in the world who may occupy the front seats in the next.

If you are a twentieth century woman you are incapable of being idle and unambitious. Unless you have a definite aim in life you don't belong to this age even if you were born sometime during the last hundred years. It is the fashion to be earnest, to have an active brain and a loving heart. To be in touch with the times you must be connected with some of the great

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the goodness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers, in handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps.

reforms; it may be temperance or missionary work. You may have a personal interest in one of the stupendous charities of the day; it is possible that woman's suffrage is claiming your attention. In any event you must be interested in something besides fashion and other follies, for women are coming to the front—now, are already there. Their feet are no longer in alimony places, they are learning how to be generous and helpful to each other, for the lenders are lending a hand to their less fortunate sisters. They extend it to all classes, from the woman who putters with patch work to the degraded devotee of Bacchus.

As we meet and talk with the friends we love, it will take no more time to tell them we appreciate them and that they have helped us than to speak of many things that will not be half so welcome to hear as these words.

KENTUCKY NEIGHBORS.

Delbert Buerhett, aged 22, son of Drew Buerhett of Smoky Valley, this county, was killed by a train in some unknown way at Maysville, Saturday night.—Olive Hill Times.

Greenup, Ky.—The C. and O. flyer struck and instantly killed Joe Coon, aged 36 years, about two miles below here. Coon was standing on the track knocking coal off a car on opposite track with a stick when the train struck him.

Uncle Shade Hatfield, age 70 years, and one of our best citizens died here Friday evening. He took sick suddenly about 4 o'clock and died in about five minutes. He was a pensioner, having served in the Civil War. He leaves a wife who is very old and in poor health.—Prestonsburg Item.

The I. O. O. F. has seated and lighted the lower part of their hall, which is now being used for union church purposes. Our people have now an excellent place of worship and they are taking advantage of the opportunity to prove that they are a God fearing people. Several ministers have been holding successful meetings, among them the Rev. Eld Willhams, of Williams, of Salt Peter, and Rev. Tlee Ekins, evangelist of East Lynn.—Williamson Enterprise.

As the result of an explosion of a boiler at Braln, Elliott county, recently four persons are dead and nine others are badly injured and acaided. The victims of the accident are all boys. The only son of Harve Gray, the proprietor of the saw mill, is among the dead.

The cause of the explosion can not be ascertained. The steam engine, which registered 120 pounds of steam just before the explosion, is thought to have been defective and the boiler was an old one and had been in use for several years.

A Salyersville special to the Courier-Journal says

To prevent a feud outbreak which might result in the murder of Willie and Dean J. Joseph, father and son, who are charged with killing Michael Rowe and badly wounding "Buck" Joseph, a relative of Rowe, a heavy guard was today placed around the local jail.

There has long been a feud between the Joseph and Rowe families, and it culminated yesterday in the shooting of Rowe and Joseph immediately after the fight Wiley and Dean Joseph surrendered. Rowe's friends swear vengeance and are reported to be arming themselves.

Curtis Akers, aged 10 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Akers, of Chlanville, just below Russell, died Saturday at 3 p. m., after drinking a quart of whiskey, found in the home of a neighbor, Henry Smith, where the little fellow was left Friday while his parents and Mr. and Mrs. Smith attended the funeral services over the remains of Chas. Evans, who had lived in the same neighborhood.

When the parents of young Akers returned to the Smith home they found their son deathly sick, and from the odor of his breath it was very evident that he had been drinking whiskey.

The unfortunate child is thought to have drank the contents of a pint bottle of whiskey and all the contents of a quart of the same liquid, excepting a half pint.

The fact that recently the Post Office Department changed the name of the Muddy Branch postoffice to that of Thealka, calls to mind the fact that "Thealka" originated by L. Price, a local painter, through a misunderstanding of orders. Several years ago the late Capt Green Meek built a new steamboat for the Big Sandy trade. Mr. Price did the painting and lettering on the boat. After completing the painting Price asked Capt. Meek what he meant to name the boat and he replied "The Alka," "the", however was not intended to be in the lettering. Price painted "The" on the boat and forgetting to leave any space proceeded with the balance of the name, making it "Thealka." Capt Meek was surprised to see the combination "Price had made and finally concluded that the name was not a bad one and let it remain. Since then babies, mines and post offices have been named "Thealka." Paintsville Herald.

ELISHA WELLMAN.

Died, on the 7th, Elisha Wellman, after several months of affliction which he bore with great patience. He was born in this county in the year 1832. He belonged to the Baptist church for several years. He leaves a host of relatives and friends to mourn his loss. They and the whole neighborhood will miss him.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev Daniel Kasee. He was laid to rest in the old Wellman grave yard to await the resurrection. A Niece Sufferers who say they have tried everything without benefit are the people we are looking for. We want them to know from glad experience that Ely's Cream Balm will conquer Cold in the Head, Hay Fever, and obstinate forms of Nasal Catarrh. This remedy acts directly on the inflamed, sensitive membranes. Cleansing, soothing and healing. One trial will convince you of its healing power. Price 50c.
